Maryville College Announces the MC2000 Campaign

"... to be beyond all question the best possible college ..."

The 1997-98 President's Report

Letter from Dr. Gibson

Greetings from the Maryville College campus!

Readers of Focus have heard about the MC2000 Plan for some time now. We have reported regularly on this blueprint for Maryville's future since the plan was approved by the Board of Directors in April 1994, both the goals that it sets forth and the progress being made toward their achievement. For visitors to campus there is ample visible evidence of MC2000 progress, and for Maryville's faculty, staff and students there are MC2000 improvements that enhance learning and strengthen community.

This issue of Focus announces the launching of the MC2000 Campaign. That word "campaign" has a military sound that suggests a determination and intensity of effort toward an important target. That's exactly what we mean. It's time for action! To renovate and expand Bartlett Hall to create a new student center, to restore the Center for Campus Ministry, to build the endowment of the College, to meet the needs of the College for operational funds--all high-priority aims of the MC2000 Plan--require a mobilization for the task. That's what the MC2000 Campaign represents.

A successful effort to raise $16 million requires the solid commitment of many good people. The College is fortunate to have chairing its Board of Directors Dick Ragsdale, who has been my traveling companion for calls on potential donors to the Campaign. Moreover, Dick and Anne Ragsdale have made a major financial contribution to the MC2000 cause, as this issue of Focus reports. On the cover of this publication you will see pictured Fred Lawson, a real "star" on Maryville's Board of Directors, Chair of the MC2000 Campaign Steering Committee, and himself a major contributor to the Student Center project. Other Steering Committee members, members of the Campaign Council, and Advancement staff members are all important "soldiers" in this Campaign. I am personally indebted to all of them for enlisting, for dedicating themselves to the success of this vital endeavor.

The theme of the MC2000 Plan is taken from President S.T. Wilson's centennial history of the College: "the best possible college." That phrase is our Campaign cry. It is a call to make Maryville by the year 2000 the strongest college that it has ever been. As we celebrated the kickoff of the MC2000 Campaign during Homecoming, and as we have rallied faculty and staff for the work ahead, I have been grateful for so many additional enthusiastic volunteers. We will need as many soldiers as we can muster to complete this campaign successfully, and I encourage all Focus readers to join Dick Ragsdale and Fred Lawson and all the rest of us who are committed to seeing Maryville move toward that "best possible college" ideal.

About the cover:

Two years ago the editors of FOCUS introduced you to four outstanding students -- four members of the Class of 2000. We plan to follow their Maryville College careers until they graduate. Last year we gave you an update on two of them; this year we revisit two more and see how their lives are intertwined with initiatives that make up the newly announced MC2000 Campaign. Standing in front of Bartlett Hall, the future home of a new student center are Folami Ford, Fred Lawson, MC board member and chair of the MC2000 Campaign, and T.J. Emory. Read their stories on pages 5 and 7.

THE BEST POSSIBLE COLLEGE

MARYVILLE COLLEGE • MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE

Maryville College Launches the MC2000 Campaign: A Vision for the Year 2000 and Beyond

"Nothing happens unless first a dream."

These words, attributed to Carl Sandburg, introduce the MC2000 Strategic Plan, a living document that proposes specific strategic goals that promise to contribute to the success of Maryville College in the 21st century. Five years ago this fall, members of the Maryville College Community—faculty, staff, students, alumni, and directors—came together to envision the College at the turn of the 20th century. The fuel for this dream is the MC2000 Campaign, a $16 million dollar campaign launched during Homecoming weekend this October. During the kickoff, Dr. Gibson announced that the Campaign has already raised more than $10 million toward its ultimate goal.

The origins of the MC2000 Campaign lie in the MC2000 Strategic Plan. The Plan addresses eleven areas—reputation, enrollment, the students, the faculty, the staff, the curriculum, financial resources, campus facilities, the college community, the college in the external community, and a college of faith and learning—and goals for each of these areas. Each of these areas have seen remarkable improvement (see 1998 update on page 10).

Many of the goals of the MC2000 Strategic Plan have been accomplished through the hard work of many. However, recognizing that Maryville College must have substantial new resources if it is to strengthen its position in independent higher education, the College's Board of Directors authorized the MC2000 Campaign to help accomplish the goals of the Plan and keep the College on course as it heads into the 21st century. "The success of the MC2000 Campaign," says Fred Lawson, Campaign Chair, "will position Maryville College to meet the challenges of a new century."

Campaign Priorities

Capital Projects $7,000,000

- Bartlett Hall/Student Center Expansion and Renovation; Relocation of Maintenance Facilities
- The Center for Campus Ministry (CCM) Renovation

Endowment Growth $4,200,000

- Endowed Scholarships
- Endowed Academic Programs
- Endow New and Renovated Facilities

Annual Fund $4,800,000

- Annual Fund Scholarships
- Supports Academic and Co-Curricular Programs
- Balances the Operating Budget of the College

Total Investment Required: $16,000,000

Half of the campaign goal— $7 million—will be used for facility expansion and renovations. Two major renovations are planned. One renovation, the $6.3 million expansion and renovation of historic Bartlett Hall as a new student center, will provide a much needed space for students, student programming, and a gathering place for members of the MC community. The Center for Campus Ministry renovation, a $700,000 project, will restore the "spiritual center" of campus and provide a much improved space for weekly worship services and campus meetings.

A $4.2 million boost to the endowment will primarily support scholarships and academic programs. The increase will help the College expand its financial aid and scholarship programs to attract gifted students in an extremely competitive admission market.

The third major goal of the MC2000 Campaign is to strengthen the MC Annual Fund. Donations to the MC Annual Fund generate approximately 11 percent of the College's educational and general budget, supporting student scholarships and programs, faculty and staff salaries, supplies, departmental budgets and co-curricular programs. For the past 9 out of 10 years, more than 40 percent of Maryville College alumni have made gifts to the College, double the national average.

"The objectives for capital gifts in the MC2000 Campaign have been set based on the assumption that annual giving will continue throughout the Campaign," says Mark Cate, Director of Development, who oversees the MC Annual Fund. "Gifts to the Annual Fund will ensure that Maryville College will emerge from this Campaign with a growing base of donors and a stronger foundation for the Annual Fund."

Alumni and Friends who support the Campaign may complete their commitments over a three year period. "We ask for the good wishes and prayers for those involved in the MC2000 Campaign and for the success of our efforts. Together, we're going to do the very best we can to make this happen," said Gibson.

Look for updates on the Maryville College 2000 Plan and MC2000 Campaign in the coming months. For more information, please contact Anna B. Graham, Director of Campaigns and Principal Giving, at 423/981-8202.

Dick and Anne Ragsdale Provide $1 Million to Boost MC2000 Campaign

Maryville College has received a $1 million gift from Chairman of the Board of Directors Dick Ragsdale and his wife Anne. The gift will be used to endow a scholarship program for international studies and in support of the new student center, both MC2000 Campaign priorities.

"We are indeed grateful to Dick and Anne for their love, devotion, and leadership to the College," says Dr. Gerald Gibson, Maryville College President.

Baxter Lee

MC Board Member and Community Leader Dead at 54

The College community was shocked and saddened when it learned that William Baxter Lee III, 54, Maryville board member since January 1996 died August 18 of an apparent heart attack. Baxter was chairman and CEO of Knoxville-based Southeast Service Corporation, a janitorial service company he formed in 1969 and which today employs 8,000 people in 34 states.

Lee was a member of the Advancement Committee of the Board and served for the past two years on the steering committee of the MC2000 Campaign. He and his wife Sherri were also significant contributors to the College.

"Few individuals have ever made a bigger impact on the College in so short a time," said MC President Gerald Gibson. "Baxter's leadership, imagination, energy and commitment were absolutely amazing. He leaves a void that will be difficult if not impossible to fill."

An elder at Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church, which, like Maryville College, was founded by Dr. Isaac Anderson, Lee was also involved with the Knoxville Symphony and Webb School. He was the recipient of many honors, including Knoxville's Entrepreneur of the Year in 1987, and he had other business interests worldwide. He was also a former member of the board of directors of the Nashville branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

He is survived by his mother, his wife, their three sons and a sister.

"We remember Baxter with profound gratitude for his extraordinary service to this College," said Board Chair Dick Ragsdale. "We extend to Sherri and the family sincere condolences on behalf of Maryville."

The Lee family designated Maryville College as one of the charitable beneficiaries for memorial contributions.

Bartlett Hall as a Student Center: A Sense of History, and an Eye to the Future

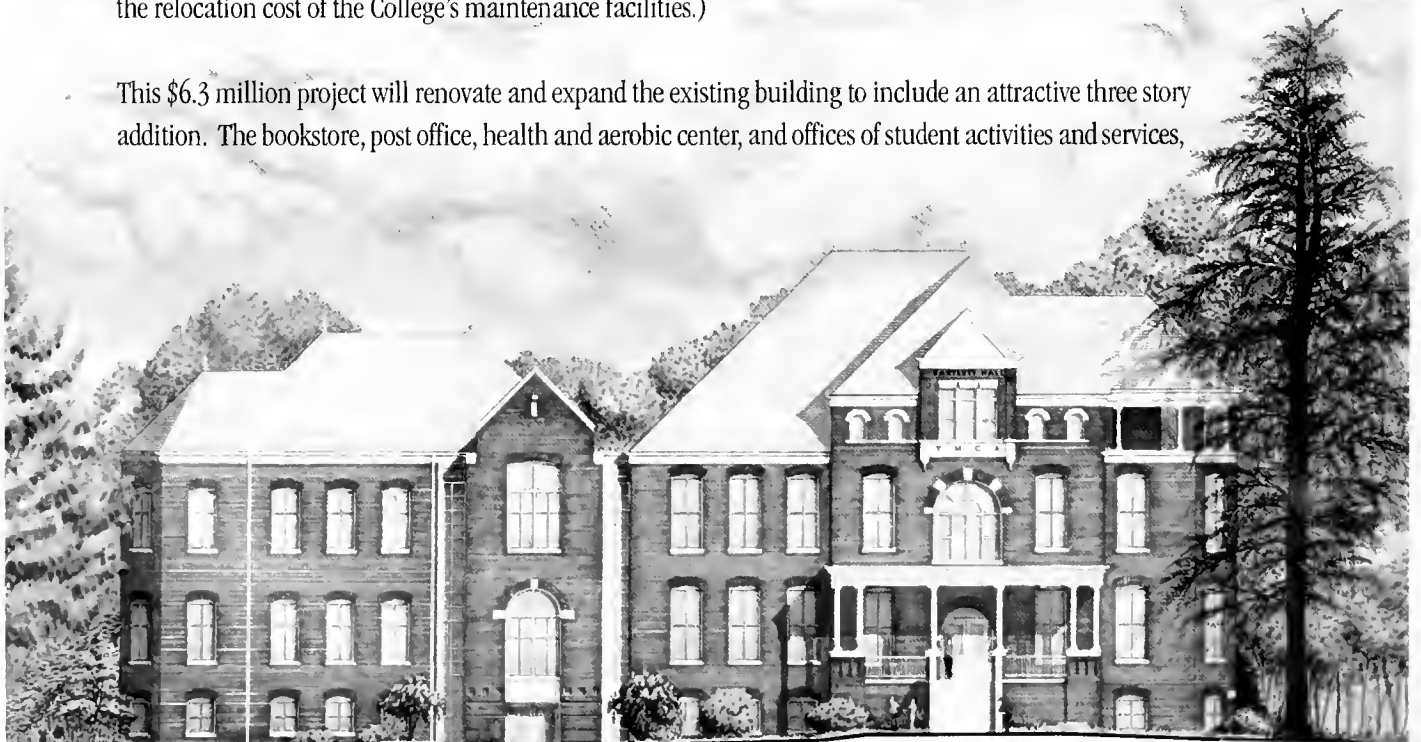

"A living room for the MC community."

That's how Dr. Bill Seymour, Vice President for Student Development, describes the new student center, which will emerge from the renovation and restoration of historic Bartlett Hall.

Most Maryville College students and alumni know the story of Bartlett Hall. An heroic and appreciative Japanese MC student by the name of Kin Takahashi decided in 1894 that he wanted to secure campus headquarters for athletics and religion. "The College has done so much for me . . . that I, as a Japanese, want to do something to show my gratitude," he said. By the time he graduated in 1895, Kin had raised some money and "college boys under his leadership made more than three hundred thousand good bricks," according to Samuel Tyndale Wilson's history of the College. Kin worked for two more years both soliciting funds and constructing the building, returning to Japan only when it was assured that the building would certainly be completed. The Bartlett Gymnasium and Y.M.C.A. Hall was entirely occupied by 1901.

Bartlett served its original use until replaced by the Alumni Gym in 1923 and later by the Cooper Athletic Center. In recent years, it has served as the headquarters for the College's Physical Plant. (The renovation of this historic building includes the relocation cost of the College's maintenance facilities.)

This $6.3 million project will renovate and expand the existing building to include an attractive three story addition. The bookstore, post office, health and aerobic center, and offices of student activities and services, including Career Services and Minority Services, will move from their existing space in Fayerweather Hall into the new building. The building will include meeting areas for commuter, resident, and non-traditional students, as well as increased space for a wider range of student activities.

“The student center will serve as an invaluable tool in student recruitment and retention,” says Seymour. “It will provide new opportunities for strengthening this growing community even further.”

To date, the College has raised more than $2.5 million toward the $6.3 million dollar goal. Throughout the next 15 months, staff and volunteers will call on alumni and friends to support this important initiative. Early next year, alumni and friends will have the chance to “name a brick” as part of the new walkway entrance to the student center.

Athlete Appreciates Maryville College

T.J. Emory might not have traveled as far from home to attend Maryville College as Japanese student Kin Takahashi did in the mid 1890s, but the Loudon County, Tennessee native is just as enthusiastic about his educational experience as the diminutive Takahashi was over a hundred years ago.

Takahashi’s indefatigable spirit and love for the College led him to raise money to help build Bartlett Hall, lead students in making bricks for the building and to organize, coach and play quarterback for the first football team on campus.

While Emory isn’t making bricks for the renovation/construction of the Bartlett Hall Student Center just yet, the Fighting Scots punter’s love for the College kept him on campus all summer as a resident assistant (RA) for student development.

“I just love Maryville so much, I wanted to stay here all summer,” he says. “I was supposed to take a class, but it was cancelled, so I just stayed here and worked. It was great. I got to interact with the international students much more than I do during the year. I really enjoyed it!”

Doing classwork and playing football keeps Emory, a biology major with an eye toward physical therapy, busy for much of the year. In the off-season he adds student work study in the training room. “I help athletes with their therapy, work basketball and baseball practices and travel with the teams year round,” he says. “I really enjoy it and it gives me experience toward my major.”

Emory added to his load last year when he applied for and was accepted into the teacher licensure track. “It’s almost a double major,” he adds. “It will give me more options when I graduate.”

Though a hundred years separate the lives of Kin Takahashi and T.J. Emory, it’s clear that the Maryville College spirit is as alive and well today as it was at the turn of the century.

“Maryville College is a real community,” Emory says with enthusiasm. “It makes you feel welcome, not only mentally, but also emotionally and physically. It’s a great place to get an education and a great place to live!”

The Restoration of the CCM

“An architectural jewel. The MC2000 Campaign will make it sparkle.”

That’s how Ellie Morrow Craven, Maryville College’s retired Executive Director of Development and member of the MC2000 Campaign Steering Committee, describes the CCM and the Campaign. Craven is heading the Committee to restore the Center for Campus Ministry.

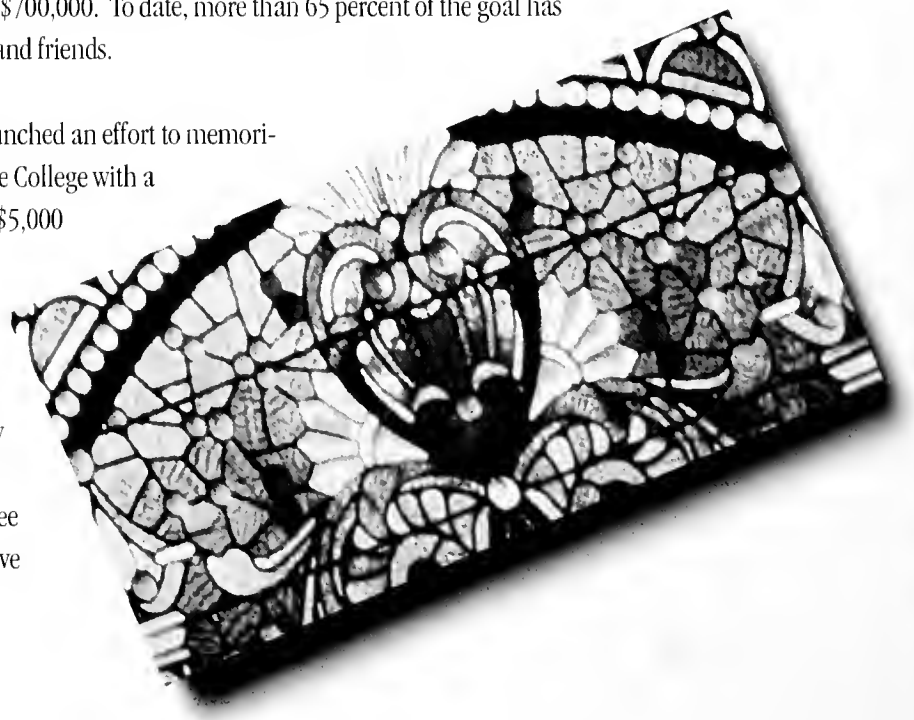

drawing by David Campbell '62

The historic Lamar Library Building was constructed as a memorial to Professor Thomas Jefferson Lamar, the “second founder” of Maryville College. Since its construction in 1888, it has also served as a post office, print shop, and college book store before becoming the Center for Campus Ministry in 1982.

The CCM has a special place in Ellie’s heart. In 1981 and 1982, she worked with the classes of 1931 and 1932 as they raised money to restore the centerpiece stained glass window depicting the resurrection scene from Durer’s “The Great Passion.” The window was a gift from the brothers and sisters of Professor Lamar in his memory.

The goal for this building restoration is $700,000. To date, more than 65 percent of the goal has been raised through gifts from alumni and friends.

The CCM restoration committee has launched an effort to memorialize professors and special friends of the College with a new “windows” campaign. For gifts of $5,000 or more, the windows in the CCM which surround the great stained glass window will be surrounded with a stained glass border complementing the center window; a plaque will display the names of those memorialized. “During our initial meetings, committee members recalled so many people who’ve made an impression on each of us. This project grew out of that. There are 28 windows; we believe this is an opportunity to remember wonderful people who throughout Maryville College's history have impacted the lives of so many, and at the same time, raise the funds to complete this project," says Craven.

Those honored and memorialized to date include Mrs. Margaret Cummings and Dr. McClelland.

If you are interested in this memorial opportunity, please contact Anna B. Graham in the Campaign Office at 423/981-8202.

Folami Ford, Class of 2000, Finds a Home in the CCM

When Folami Ford, a member of the class of 2000, came to Maryville College she had many of the same misgivings about attending college as her classmates.

Her ability to handle her academic load, however, was not one of them.

"I had no idea it would challenge me so," says Ford. "I found myself stressed out during my first year," asking myself, "what have I done?"

As her junior year begins, however, the sign language interpreting major is more confident.

That confidence comes, in part, from her year-long involvement in Intersarsity Christian Fellowship, a small, non-denominational Bible study group that meets weekly in the Center for Campus Ministry (CCM) building on campus.

Although ICF is active on college campuses nationwide and offers retreats and chapter camps off-campus, on campus it offers small group interaction, usually limited to five to 10 people. "It's perfect for me," says Ford, "it's what I needed."

Ford enjoys meeting with the ICF group in the CCM, noting that it has a cozy, intimate atmosphere. "It would be nice to have it fixed up," she says, "that would be really, really cool."

In addition to ICF, Ford has a number of other activities to keep her busy. She belongs to the Sign Language Club, which she says is "good to be in for my major." The club holds silent lunches where members practice their interpreting, and works with storytelling festivals for the deaf. Ford is also looking to be more involved in the Black Student Association and International Club on campus in the coming year.

Long range plans for the Maryland native are to pursue community interpreting and a masters degree, perhaps closer to home. As for now, Ford says, "God had a plan for me to be here. College might be challenging, but I will survive."

Endowment Secures the Future

Stable, steadfast, protected. We who love Maryville College want it to stand firm against adversity. Strong leadership is essential for security, as is a growing endowment.

Between 1993 and 1998, the college endowment has seen a 71.8 percent increase, growing from $13.5 million to $23.2 million. Though we are encouraged by such progress, the size of our endowment is modest compared to many liberal arts colleges of similar size. What is endowment? Why is it important? The College endowment is like an institutional investment account comprised of many separate named funds and a general fund. All are permanent funds established through gifts to the College. The corpus (original investment) is never spent. Rather, it is invested to produce a stream of income to be used by the College in accordance with the wishes of donors and the mission, programs and policies of the College.

The Finance Committee of the MC Board is responsible for the decisions regarding investments, including financial advisors, fund managers, and asset allocation. The current asset allocation is 60 percent domestic and international equities with the balance in bonds and short term cash reserves. The total return for the year of May 1997 to May 1998 was 18.9 percent. The average for the last three years has been 17.4 percent. Though gifts to endowment can be made with outright gifts of cash, securities, or real estate, most are made through estate gifts such as bequests, insurance policies, charitable gift annuities, and charitable trusts. These gifts enable donors to make larger gifts to the College than would otherwise be possible and yet do not interfere with their lifestyle.

What are some options?

You may choose to make a gift to the General Endowment, the earnings of which will be spent according to the College's current needs. The General Endowment acts as a cushion that protects the College against hard blows and generates opportunities for development. A gift of any size may be designated to the General Endowment. An excellent way to help strengthen the future of Maryville College is to endow your annual gift by making a gift twenty times the size of your annual gift. For example, if you typically give $1,000 a year to MC, you could endow this amount with a gift of $20,000.

Access to educational opportunity by all students of academic promise is a core principle of Maryville College. You can establish a named scholarship fund with a minimum investment of $25,000.

The faculty are one of Maryville College's greatest strengths. Endowed chairs, professorships and faculty development funds are all excellent ways to enhance opportunities for faculty. They bring prestige to a college and are strong indicators of the importance an institution places on academic achievement. They aid in the recruitment of distinguished faculty as well as outstanding students.

Other options include endowments for the library, technology, historical building maintenance, special awards, and lecture series. The list is limited only by the human imagination and the programs, policies, mission and goals of the College.

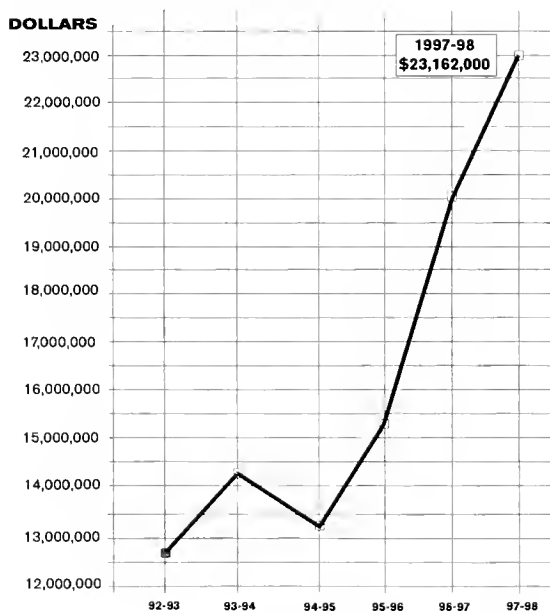

You can form a permanent link with Maryville College through an endowment gift, an enduring memorial in your name or a name of your choosing - a parent, for example, or a child, or a cherished faculty member. Your gift could provide an ongoing stream of opportunities to benefit the College and its students. If you would like to learn more about gifts to endowment, please feel free to contact Lyn French, Director of Gift Planning at 423/981-8191.

The daughter of an MC professor, Arda Walker practically grew up at Maryville College. She later graduated from it, then returned to it and taught history for 36 years. With Dr. Carolyn Blair, she co-authored By Faith Endowed, a history of the College, and in 1995 she was honored with the prestigious Maryville College Medallion.

Dr. Walker has remembered the College in her will. When asked what she most valued about the College, she replied simply, "her traditions and outstanding graduates."

The Society of 1819

Honoring Our Heritage Building Our Foundation for the Future

Explaining her planned gift to Maryville College, one member of the Society of 1819 said of her alma mater, "It values excellent education, development of the whole person and the dignity of the human spirit."

Many of those close to the College want to express their gratitude and affection by including Maryville College in their estate plans – through their wills, living trusts, insurance policies, gift annuities, charitable trusts or other planned gifts. The Society of 1819 was founded in January of 1997 to recognize and thank these generous benefactors. Named in honor of the founding year of the College, the Society of 1819 celebrates these farsighted people and their belief in the enduring value of a Maryville College education.

We are privileged to acknowledge the following Charter Members of the Society of 1819. This list is complete through August of 1998.

The MC2000 Plan

Major Accomplishments

October 1998

- Full time enrollment growth of 45 percent since 1993.
- Overall retention has increased from 72.2 percent to 84 percent in 1998
- Freshman retention has increased from 66 percent to 75.1 percent in 1998
- Fiscal year 1997-1998 marks the College's 10th consecutive year of operation in the black.
- Between 1993 and 1998, the College endowment has seen a 71.8 percent increase, growing from $13.5 million to $23.2 million.
- Recognized by U.S. News and World Report as a top 10 southern liberal arts college for four out of the past five years, including the 1999 edition.
- Recognized by the John Templeton Foundation in the 1997-1999 Honor Roll of Character Building Colleges, Peterson's Guide to Competitive Colleges and Universities, and local publications
- Test Scores, high-school GPA, and class rank sharply increased for entering freshmen
- MC Graduation rates significantly improved
- New Maryville College general education curriculum implemented
- New computer network installed and residence halls wired for network access
- College library automated
- Student Faculty Ratio is 12.6:1; MC2000 Plan goal is 13:1
- Extensive renovations of residence halls, Fayerweather Hall, Anderson Hall
- Deferred maintenance endowment established for Cooper Athletic Center
- Construction of the Beeson residential Village complete
- Ground broken on the construction of a new physical plant building
- Replacement of walkways and addition of campus lighting
- Partnership formed with Ruby Tuesday, Inc. with Morningside renovated and a lodge added.
- Faculty and staff attending the new liberal arts institute.
- Campus covenant created and implemented.
- Faith and Learning committee created.

The President's Circle

Contributors to the President's Circle provide a major share of the College's income with their generous gifts made during the fiscal year.

"It's people like you who make receiving an education easier for my generation. Coming from a household of six, with one income, money is not taken for granted. Without the help of scholarships, there is no possible way that I would have been able to attend such a great college. I am very grateful for this opportunity!"

Estate Gifts

Maryville College history is punctuated with estate gifts. They have all helped the College on its journey, smoothing out valleys and elevating peaks. They have provided buildings, professorships, scholarships, and capital improvements. During the 1997-98 fiscal year, Maryville College received $1.4 million from the estates of the following benefactors.

Bird, Stan L. '41
 Dean, Katie
 Hitch, Gerline Luckett King

Maryville College Already Home to Oregon Freshman

by Karen E. Beaty '94
Director of Alumni and Parent Relations

Sarah Berkemeier's window in Copeland overlooks the College Cemetery, reminding the Maryville College freshman that her ties to the school extend way beyond her 18 years.

Buried in that cemetery is John Franklin Magill, a student from the late 1800s and Sarah's distant relative.

When Sarah strolls past Anderson Hall, she is reminded of a story told to her many times – a story involving some mischievous students, the bell tower and a cow. Stories of Barnwarming dances and student life in the late 1960s spring to mind when she passes the Alumni Gymnasium and Lloyd Hall.

The Portland, Ore. freshman says she is at home in East Tennessee – even though she's more than 2,500 miles and three time zones away from her parents, Thomas and Linda Jones Berkemeier '70.

"It's kind of like a second home to me," Sarah said of Maryville. "I remember when I was little, taking trips to Tennessee – the campus, Cades Cove and the Smokies. But I never imagined this as a kid – spending four years here, spending this time of my life here.

"It feels like I'm on vacation but still living in Portland."

What brought Sarah to Maryville years ago were visits with her mother's family and friends. What brought her to visit Maryville in January 1998 was her interest in a small, top-notch liberal arts college.

"I wasn't interested in the large state universities," she explained. "I knew I wouldn't get to know anybody, and I knew I wouldn't get enough personal attention for my education."

Linda Jones Berkemeier said it was her husband who encouraged Sarah to apply to Maryville College – not she. "He thought it would be poetic for Sarah to go there, considering the family ties," Linda explained. (Linda's father, Alexander Jones '32, his sisters and other relatives were Maryville College alumni.) "I didn't mind her going far from home; I just didn't think it would occur to her to apply to Maryville because of the distance. And I didn't want her to make that decision based on my idea, based on pleasing me."

In addition to Maryville College, Sarah considered the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Wash., Seattle Pacific University, Willamette University in Salem, Ore., and Southern Oregon State College in Ashland.

When Sarah began narrowing her choices, Maryville College always remained. During her campus visit last January, Sarah said she felt a greater sense of community at Maryville than she did at other colleges.

"The admissions department did an excellent job of making me feel welcome," the freshman added. "And my financial package was excellent." Linda agreed that the financial package was a large factor in Sarah's decision to attend Maryville. The 1970 alumna described the cost of Sarah's education as a "bargain."

"Not in the sense that it's cheap," she explained, "but in the sense that the education is well worth the cost ... and more."

Linda said she keeps up with her alma mater and former classmates by reading "every inch" of FOCUS. From reading recent testimonials of younger graduates printed in FOCUS, Linda said she believes the Maryville of the 1990s is similar – in several commendable respects – to the Maryville of the 1960s.

Linda '70 and Sarah Berkemeier

"I tend to hold to the belief that the atmosphere is the same," she explained. "People still feel strongly about the relationships they built there, and there are still close feelings between the faculty and the students.

"And I would assume that the good rankings (by U.S. News and World Report) indicate that the College has continued to advance the way colleges should advance."

A biology major at Maryville, Linda said she has gone in "six different directions" since graduating, but stressed that her liberal arts background has helped her adapt to different careers.

"I don't care what Sarah majors in," Linda said. "The important thing for me is that she is in a liberal arts community. I'm sure Maryville College will prepare her for anything she wants to do."

While the alumna admitted that she misses her daughter, she added that she thought Sarah was in "very good hands."

"The College takes care of its students while allowing them to become independent, thinking adults. I didn't give (her decision to attend Maryville) a second thought."

Three weeks into classes, Sarah said her college experience was going very well. She has made friends and is looking forward to getting involved in campus organizations. Probably the strongest evidence of Sarah's comfort at her mother's alma mater is the fact that she hasn't had to call her mother's local friends or family members for help or reassurance.

"I love it back here," the freshman said. "I feel like this is where I'm supposed to be."

Your New Alumni Board Members

When they were in school at Maryville, the year 2001 probably seemed a distant, distant place in time. A place in time that included weird-looking cars, a computer on every desk and a robot in every kitchen.

The five alumni who recently agreed to serve on the National Alumni Board -- as the Class of 2001 -- realize now the year is only three years away.

Alumni board terms last three years, with members agreeing "to represent the Alumni Association in order to promote the interests of Maryville College and to maintain mutually beneficial relations between the College and alumni." Agreeing to serve their alma mater in this capacity are: Jonathan Allison '90, Robert Beam '58, Priscilla Book Campbell '79, DeAnn Hargis-Kaminski '88 and Brenda Babb McCroskey '82.

The first meeting of the National Alumni Board was held September 11-12.

When Jonathan "Jon" Allison moved to campus in 1986, he was already a part of the Maryville College family. Just by virtue of being an Allison, he was family.

His father, James Allison, graduated from the College in 1952. Siblings Brad Allison, Matt Allison and Ann Allison Hall left with diplomas in 1982, 1984, and 1994, respectively.

After making Maryville his alma mater in 1990, Jon enrolled at Ohio State University for graduate school, receiving his doctorate of jurisprudence in 1993. He is now the deputy director for communications and legislative counsel for the Ohio Secretary of State.

Jon, wife Kim and their 1-year-old son Benjamin, live in Columbus. The Allisons are members of the Hilliard Presbyterian Church, where Jon is a session and choir member. As a member of the National Alumni Board, Jon will serve on the Communications Committee.

Retired Knoxville Catholic High School Assistant Principal Robert "Buddy" Beam graduated from Maryville in 1958. He earned a master of science degree from the University of Tennessee in 1962 and subsequently worked in the Knoxville City School System.

Buddy is a member of Inskip Baptist Church in Knoxville and is involved in the Masonic Lodge and Scottish Rite Lodge.

Ten years ago, Buddy was, in addition to an alumnus, a Maryville College dad. Daughter Stacy Beam Essary graduated in 1989. He and wife Wilda have another daughter, LeAnne Beam Moore. The Beams live in Knoxville.

As an alumni board member, Buddy will serve on the Alumni Ambassadors Committee.

After receiving her bachelor of arts degree from Maryville in 1979, Priscilla Book Campbell enrolled at the University of Oregon, where she received a master of science degree in 1982.

The group manager for research participation programs with Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Priscilla and her husband, MC alumnus Jim Campbell '79, live in Oak Ridge with their daughters Elise, Claire and Amelia. They are members of First Presbyterian Church of Oak Ridge.

Keeping busy with school and children's sporting activities, Priscilla is also on the board of directors for Leadership Oak Ridge Inc. and serves on committees for MayFest and local scholarships at Oak Ridge High School. She is the former executive director of the YWCA of Oak Ridge.

Priscilla will serve on the Student Services Committee of the National Alumni Board.

Atlanta native DeAnn Hargis-Kaminski moved north to New Jersey almost 10 years ago. The 1988 MC graduate is manager of process and system implementation for Lucent Technologies in Warren, N.J.

In addition to her bachelor of arts degree from Maryville, DeAnn studied international business at Fairleigh Dickenson University, where she earned an MBA in 1992.

She is a member of Bound Brook Presbyterian Church and a volunteer group, Lucent Technologies Pioneers.

DeAnn and husband Mark Kaminski are expecting their first child in November.

The alumni board's Development Committee welcomes DeAnn into its ranks.

Maryville College Wall of Fame inductee Brenda Babb McCroskey lives in Gatlinburg with husband Michael McCroskey '82 and 5-year-old son, Jon.

The director of sales and marketing for the Lee Greenwood Theater and River Bluff Landing in Sevierville, Brenda is also on the board of the Sevierville Chamber of Commerce and Kids Vote. She serves on Tennessee's Tourism Advisory Council and several other national tourism organizations. She is a member of the First Baptist Church in Gatlinburg.

The 1982 Maryville graduate will serve on the alumni board's Student Services Committee.

The Class of 2002 includes several children of alumni. Some of those attending Parent Weekend September 26 gathered for smiles and reunions.

Maryville College Ranked As Top Ten Southern Regional Liberal Arts College

For the fourth year out of the last five, Maryville College has been ranked as a Top Ten Southern Regional Liberal Arts College by U.S. News and World Report magazine and college guide. Earlier, the College was named to the 1997-98 Honor Roll for Character Building Colleges by the John Templeton Foundation and has been listed in the new Peterson's Guide To Competitive Colleges and Universities.
